Your future. Our Mission.
To integrate education and research to solve problems for our state and the technological world.

“Missouri S&T will better define the university as a leading technological research university. We believe the new name will help to differentiate this university in a highly competitive university market and provide a national competitive advantage.”

Dr. John F. Carney, III
Missouri S&T Chancellor

Our Mission
Missouri S&T Name Change
18 months later...

- Largest new-student class in campus history
- Record-breaking total enrollment since implementing competitive admissions criteria in 1988
- Record-breaking minority and female student enrollments
- Record-breaking numbers of applicants
- Dramatic increases in out-of-state student interest levels
- Increases in new-student quality and diversity
- Increases in transfer student enrollments
We’re one of America’s best technological research universities.

Our students get great jobs at great salaries.

Our students graduate with the ability to address real-world problems.

We’re one of America’s “30 safest campuses.”

S&T has completed +$150 million in construction and facility upgrades over the past ten years.
A university with...
